Resources

The Most Reverend*
Garland F. Byers, Jr., J.D., D.D.‡
Bishop to the Nations, under Apostolic Commission

The Long Room of the Library of Trinity College, Dublin, about 1885.

National Library of Ireland. No known copyright restrictions.

> Then said he unto them, "Therefore every scribe which is instructed unto the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is an householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things new and old."
>
> Matthew 13:52 (KJV)

CONTENTS

Public-Domain and Openly Licensed Texts, Freely Available The Texts

Public-Domain and Openly Licensed Texts, Freely Available

This library gathers texts that are in the public domain or openly licensed: the Holy Scriptures and the writings of the early Church and of other ancient Christian authors. When a publication on this site cites one of these works, the reader can find and read the full text here, without searching elsewhere on the internet or relying on the website of any particular church body.

Each text appears in an edition that already exists in its own language and is either free of copyright or openly licensed for free use. The edition and its source are stated with every work, so that any reader may check it. The Bishop translates only his own writings; he does not translate the works in this library. For that reason the library in each language holds only what has already been published in that language, and some languages may have no texts at all.

Works are added over time. All are offered freely, as the Gospel was freely given.

The Texts

The Holy Bible, King James Version, with the Apocrypha

The standard text of 1769, containing the Old Testament, the Apocrypha (including the Wisdom of Solomon) and the New Testament. Public domain.

Source: eBible.org (Crosswire Bible Society and eBible.org), which states, "You may copy the King James Version of the Holy Bible freely."

Download (PDF, 12 MB, 1,704 pages)

The Holy Bible, Douay-Rheims Version, American Edition of 1899

The English translation from the Latin Vulgate made by the English College at Douai, containing the Old Testament (including Tobit, Judith, Wisdom, Sirach, Baruch and 1–2 Maccabees) and the New Testament. In this electronic edition those seven books are placed after Malachi, and the books bear the names familiar from the King James Version. Public domain.

Source: eBible.org, which states, "This Public Domain Bible text is brought to you courtesy of eBible.org."

Download (PDF, 10 MB, 1,229 pages)

War on the Saints

By Jessie Penn-Lewis, with Evan Roberts. Scans of two printed editions issued from the office of The Overcomer at Leicester: the first edition of 1912 and the third edition of 1922. Each edition is divided into three parts so that it may be downloaded at full original quality. Public domain.

Scans courtesy of waronthesaints.org, which states, "Today, WOTS is in the public domain, free for anyone to duplicate and sell."

First edition, 1912. Subtitle on the title page: A Text Book for believers on the work of deceiving spirits among the children of God.

Part 1: Chapters I–V (PDF, 19 MB)

Part 2: Chapters VI–IX (PDF, 15 MB)

Part 3: Chapters X–XII, Appendix and Index (PDF, 19 MB)

Third edition, 1922. Subtitle on the title page: A Text Book on the work of deceiving spirits among the children of God, and the way of deliverance.

Part 1: Chapters I–V (PDF, 24 MB)

Part 2: Chapters VI–IX (PDF, 16 MB)

Part 3: Chapters X–XII, Appendix and Index (PDF, 21 MB)